

This year, the Public Religion Research Institute and the Brookings Institute published a forty-two-page report about the rise of Christian Nationalism. It is interesting that liberal media pundits are expressing outrage about this movement and act as if a dominant American Christian identity is abnormal and that it is Christian Nationalists who are attacking American values, when in fact, the reverse is true. The attack on America has come directly from the left and they have been the change agents!

Percent who:

While we believe in a decentralized government, when it comes to building a movement and a political party that can achieve real success, we must think of centralization. Our people must unify themselves. Our party must centralize itself in the midst of a majority white population. We must pull like a magnet like-minded patriots to our cause and organize them in geographically viable areas – white areas. It is not a matter of letting the enemy have the rest of the nation, it is simply gathering the forces together, building momentum, branching out and then under God's guidance, taking our entire nation back.

There is no giving up huge sections of our Country. There is no turning our back on our white brothers and sisters in the outermost regions of this land. There is an organic – yet strategic gathering of white families – to white areas – to educate, work, organize, fellowship, live, grow, reproduce, and serve as the pillars of a new society of white Christian America under the banner of the Jesus Christ, by which we will win back our whole Country and revive and rebuild a New America as our forefathers had visioned.

Economic Tyranny of the FED

On June 4, 1963, a little-known attempt was made to strip the Federal Reserve Bank of its power to loan money to the government at interest. On that day President John F. Kennedy signed Executive Order No. 11110 which returned to the U.S. government the power to issue currency without going through the Federal Reserve. Mr. Kennedy's order gave the Treasury the power "to issue silver certificates against any silver bullion, silver, or standard silver dollars in the Treasury." This meant that for every ounce of silver in the U.S. Treasury's vault, the government could introduce new money into circulation. The ramifications of this bill are enormous.

With the stroke of a pen, Mr. Kennedy was on his way to putting the Federal Reserve Bank (a PRIVATE corporation with stockholders) of New York out of business. If enough of these silver certificates were to come into circulation, they would have eliminated the demand for Federal Reserve notes. This is because the silver certificates are backed by silver, and the Federal Reserve notes are not backed by anything. This Executive Order 11110 could have prevented the national debt from reaching its current level because it would have given the government the ability to repay its debt without going to the Federal Reserve and being charged interest in order to create the new money. Why should the U.S. pay interest on its OWN MONEY? Only 5 months after John Kennedy stripped the banks of their power, he was assassinated. This federal order has never been repealed, but the fear the U.S. politicians have of the international bankers is dominant in Washington D.C., and they will not use this powerful executive order.

One brave politician in the 1930s was the Chairman of the House Banking Committee – Louis T. McFadden. He was continually pointing out that monetary issues shouldn't be partisan, he criticized both Hoover and Roosevelt for their part in subjugating the U.S. to private money monopolies. In describing the Fed, he remarked in the Congressional Record, House pages 1295 and 1296 on June 10, 1932, that:

The Federal Reserve Act was passed during an "emergency" session during the Christmas Holidays in 1913 when all but a few favorable Congressmen were out of town for the season.

"Mr. Chairman, we have in this country one of the most corrupt institutions the world has ever known. I refer to the Federal Reserve Board and the federal reserve banks. The depredations and the iniquities of the Federal Reserve Board and the banks acting together have cost this country enough money to pay the debt several times over. This evil institution has impoverished and ruined the people of the United States." Chairman of the House Banking Committee Louis T. McFadden strings and we dance. Our time, our talents, our lives, our capacities are all the property of these men —we are intellectual prostitutes."

This is just a summary of the hold that international financiers have over our nation. Their actions are contrary to everything that is Christian – their enormous profits enable them to even Judaize Christianity through their control of the publishing houses that print the books used in Christian seminaries. The Bible contains many passages warning us of the attempt to subvert Christians by unethical uses of money.

However, it is not money that is evil, it is the LOVE of money that is evil. Today, we must use our credit wisely. We must not be consumed by using our resources for continual acquirement of luxury or entertainment, but use it to support the causes of which will better our people and will awaken them to the yoke they are under. The Bible commands 10% of our income to be used for the care of the people, whether it be for community improvements, for the sick, the elderly, the orphan, or the widow. Thus, income tax is not Unbiblical. However, the politicians owned by the unlawful banking system have subverted our hard-earned money to support thousands of programs aimed at destroying White Christian America. This we can not change immediately, but we can and should as Christians, financially support the Christian opposition to tyranny. God promises to bless your cheerful financial sacrifices with financial increase. Share this information with your friends and family and let them know the bondage they are under and their responsibility to warn others. Even those liberals among the colleges, media outlets, and churches have a right to know that they are being used as pawns to destroy their own future.

Together lets help put an end to tyranny over America! (END) just and only in the sense of organization building, but also in reaching out and being a positive example to those many Americans who agree with us on most issues but are unwilling to stand with us now. They are still our brothers and sisters.

This is why volunteering is so important. This is how you meet others. This is how you lead. This is how you become an asset to your community. The whole concept of migrating to majority white small towns, volunteering, becoming known, developing relationships, and creating a foothold for white nationalism is critical. This is grassroots organizing and is a concept Pastor Robb has taught at party seminars since the mid-eighties.

The nation is in a demographic superstorm, and the last census told us just exactly how dark it has become. However, this may be God's way of drawing our people out from the alien-populated areas of the U.S. And bringing them to the Heartland and similar white enclaves around the Country.

Our efforts, politically, must stand at the local and State levels. This is where we can win in the future. Others will catch the vision. God is gathering our people together. Our people are making friends and influencing people. We are at the crossroads of something great.

What about the rest of the Country? To be sure, we are not supporting the idea that we should set out to build communes in the rural areas and to hell with the rest of the Country. When we speak about building communities, we simply refer to building a stronghold in areas that will be majority white. Recently, headlines around the nation read, "Minority Births are Now the Majority." It has already occurred in the cities of America. What does this mean to the rest of the Country ruled by the new majority? Does this mean we intend to forsake our brothers and sisters who are left behind in majority non-white areas? No. What it does mean is that we must think strategically.

It is sad to say, but many white people refuse to move from non-white areas because they simply like the metropolitan feel. They like to live in an integrated area. They do not see it as a danger to themselves or to their children. We cannot force these people to change. They may change given the right circumstances, or it may be their children who hear the wake-up call.

Others refuse to flee non-white areas because it is their home. It is where their family is. It is where they grew up. It is what they know. The thought of moving to a white area may be appealing, but it is also frightening. That is understandable. They receive absolutely no condemnation from those who have made a move to a white area or are fortunate enough to have grown up in a white area that remains white. We are simply looking at the overall picture.

The changing demographics and tsunami of non-white violence is going to happen – it is happening! It is not a matter of if, it is a matter of how soon and fast it will escalate. It is the natural consequence of millions of white people for a number of generations turning their backs on their white brothers and sisters. Or if not that severe, they certainly did not take seriously the warnings of white nationalists who have been sounding the alarm for at least a hundred years!

Some people think the federal reserve banks are United States Government institutions. They are NOT. They are private credit monopolies, which prey upon the people of the U.S. (and other countries) for the benefit of themselves.) The Communist Revolution was almost entirely financed by Jewish bankers from New York City) Foreign and domestic speculators and swindlers, and rich and predatory moneylenders. In that dark crew of financial pirates, there are those who would cut a man's throat to get a dollar out of his pocket; there are those who send money into States to buy votes to control our legislation; and there are those who maintain international propaganda for the purpose of deceiving us and of steering us into the granting of new concessions which will permit them to cover up their past misdeeds and set again in motion their gigantic train of crime. Private credit monopolies are deceitfully and disloyally foisted upon nations by banking institutions and their families who use their incredible wealth to control and dictate government policy, social experimentation such as integration, and domestic upheaval.

Senator Elmer Thomas stated before the Senate on Feb. 22, 1933, 72nd Congress, 2nd session pg. 4700: "Any time Wall Street wants a bill passed they send a suggestion down to Washington, and we are kept here sometimes until midnight to pass the bill. But if Wall Street is opposed to legislation in Congress, it cannot be gotten out of Committee, and it cannot be gotten before the Senate for consideration, and it has no chance of passing."

Benjamin Franklin: "The refusal of King George to allow the colonists to operate on an honest, colonial money system, which freed the ordinary man from the clutches of the manipulators, was probably the prime cause of the Revolution."

It is reported that prior to war between the North and South, Benjamin Disraeli, Prime Minister of England, stated to the Rothchild families gathered for the wedding of Lenora Rothchild to her cousin, Alfonso, in 1857; "Under this roof are the heads of the family of Rothchild, a name famous in every capital in Europe and every division of the globe. If you like we shall divide the United States into two parts, one for you James, and one for you Lionel." Hundreds of thousands of white Christians died.

International financiers have incredible influence over who finds out about their manipulation of social causes. We know that not every journalist or reporter is "out to lie", They are, for the most part, men and women who have been deceived by Marxist style universities and colleges (universities owing a great debt to the banks) They are victims also. But the owner of newspapers is another matter. Today, the media, whether it is radio, television, or print is just one peg in a mighty conglomerate of corporate wheels. They owe their "ownership" to the banks. Why is it so difficult to have truthful reporting on matters such as race, homosexuality, abortion, free trade, etc.? In addition, petty issues continually bombard us.

John Swinton, the editor of the New York Times, stated at the annual dinner of the American Press Association, as far back as 1914 that; "There is no such thing as an independent press in America. You know this and I know it. Not a man among you dares to utter his honest opinion. Were you to utter it, you know beforehand that it would never appear in print. We are marionettes to the elitists behind the scenes. These men pull the

Wake Up White America!

For more than thirty-five years, The Knights has been warning about the balkanization of America. Even Time Magazine, in its March 2010 edition, thirteen years ago, blasted about the "White Anxiety Crisis" when whites will "increasingly develop a stronger consciousness of their political interests" and "A strong white minority political consciousness is most likely to arise."

In the book Civil War Two, the author, Thomas Chittum, gives considerable attention to the ethnic balkanization occurring in the South and the Southwest. He suggests that by 2025, the southwestern states of Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, and California will have such a high population of Mexicans that it will be "American" in name only. He suggests most of the southern states will also balkanize at that time due to the extremely high population of blacks. The U.S. Government, already financially dead, will be unable to contain this open defiance of U.S. Law and will be forced to abandon any notion of doing so. America, as we know it, will cease to exist. Researchers tell us that as a result, a flood of whites with a racial consciousness will move away from the coastal states, the Southwest and the South, into northern states, the West, and the Midwest. Of course,

What is evident is that God is calling our people back to a small-town atmosphere so that we may be far from the coming calamity that non-white violence and economic collapse will surely bring to heavily populated areas. White patriots are encouraged to use the internet to search out the demographics and seriously consider a move to these areas as they seek to protect their families or to start a family. Moving to a more rural environment does not mean you are rejecting progress. Interestingly the many tech innovations occurring may even help facilitate a white migration.

Every Knights Party associate is a catalyst in moving our communities forward. And by communities, we do not just mean our physical communities but also our ideological communities. We all must work toward the growth of the white nationalist Christian community, not Cont. on Page 15

we are just a year and a half away from that date, and things are still moving along in that direction, even if not at the speed Chittum had suggested.

Fortunately, there are still pockets of America that are 85 to 90% white or better in most regions.

Biden Admin Says Suspending Minority Students for Skipping School

The Biden administration claims that disciplinary action from schools, which includes suspending students for truancy, is racist and must be remedied. President Joe Biden's Education and Justice Departments released their "Resource on Confronting Racial Discrimination in Student Discipline," which argues that because of the legacy of racism in the school system, non-white students experience more demerits for their actions at school. Furthermore, the report maintains that the unfair discipline standards begin in preschool. According to the authors of the memo, excessive absences and failure to adhere to the dress code can trigger disciplinarian actions for non-white students. Woke activists have argued previously that non-white students, more than white students, have difficulty following school rules because of their home life circumstances and that expecting non-white students to adhere to them is a symptom of racism. In 2021, liberal education policy expert Kayla Patrick blamed "whiteness" for creating a "racist" student disciplinary system in public schools. Now the Justice Department has begun to interfere once again, forcing at least one school in Maryland to no longer suspend students for skipping school.

What About White Students?

MINORITY POVERTY IS OFTEN GIVEN AS THE CAUSE OF EDUCATIONAL FAILURE AND DISCIPLINARY ACTIONS, WHICH IS THEN TOUTED AS PROOF OF WHITE RACISM. BUT WHAT ABOUT WHITE STUDENTS? MILLIONS OF WHITE CHILDREN LIVE IN OR NEAR THE POVERTY LINE, AND YET IT DOES NOT SEEM TO AFFECT THEIR SCHOOL ACTIONS. IS THIS MORE PROOF OF RACISM OR ARE WHITE STUDENTS MORE CAPABLE OF ADHERING TO EXPECTED SOCIAL STANDARDS. AND THEN WHERE DOES THIS LEAVE HARDWORKING WHITE YOUTH WHEN THERE IS A SOCIAL MANIA TO AWARD NON-WHITES AND EXCLUDE WHITES?

Dear Headquarters and Knights' associates,

Our Country is in a dark and dismal time. Christianity is being persecuted, we are losing our freedoms to a few in the government who have an anti-white and anti-Christian agenda. The white race is losing sight of its heritage. If we are white and proud, we are called "racists." Our children are being taught by society and schools, that being white and proud is wrong. Therefore, it is our duty as white Christians to teach others the true faith. This means we must recognize homosexuality for the sin it is. We must teach our children that being white is not a crime and doesn't make us innately evil, and we must always listen to God.

I am on my way to Knighthood, I say that so that you, as the readers, can see how proud I am of my white heritage. I was accepted as a Klansman in February of this year right after my father passed away. My uncle, who too, is deceased, was also a Klan member. Both of these men would be very proud of me. But as they now are with Christ, I ask you as my white family to be proud of my accomplishments and of those other associates who are working toward Knight.

I just wanted to share a little history about myself and my beliefs, to you readers. I know there are others out there with similar circumstances. I hope you will remain on the road shown to you by your fathers or mothers. We must hold on to our past and not forget the brave people who went on before us. So fellow believers, stay true to your beliefs in this world of sin. After the world has succumbed to wickedness, we must continue to light the way - for God will deliver those who does His will. My forefathers did, and so will I. I pray for each of you to remain courageous. God will give you the strength.

-God bless us all / Michael, Missouri

Dear Pastor Robb,

I received your letter over a week ago, but have been busy with my daughter's wedding or would have written sooner. Though my financial contributions to The Knights has been minimal at best - I will do what I can to send in extra monetary support every month along with my regular pledge.

I have finished my reports from the Cds and H.Q. should receive them shortly. I look forward to advancing through the ranks as much as and as soon as possible. Well, I just wanted to say Hi. And thank you for my acceptance into The Knights. I look forward to a life long relationship with the party in our joined efforts for white Christian revival.

-God bless, Jennifer, Georgia

Dear Pastor Robb and HQ

I haven't written in a while, but I thought it was time to send you a thank you note. Our family loves The Knights and we always look forward to reading your mailings and discussing it. It keeps us informed, but also encourages us. Many people I know just don't understand what's going on in the world. Your writings breaks it down correctly and it doesn't leave out God. Please keep us in your prayers and find an extra donation enclosed to go toward efforts.

Praise Him, John and Ellen, Nebraska

Dear Thomas Robb and all my brothers and sisters in The Knights Party,

This past year has been very difficult for me. My mother, whom I was extremely close to passed away. And a couple months later, my brother who I love dearly, was told he had terminal cancer. I am not writing to ask for sympathy, but to thank you all. When I was at my worst through all this, the only thing that me me feel good, was knowing of my brothers and sisters in The Knights. All of you were thought of so much. I can't explain it, but somehow I felt like all of you were here with me, even though no one there was aware of this.

I haven't been as active through this, but I'm back distributing leaflets and other Knights' literature. I truly believe there's more to The Knights then some think. Taking care of each other, being patient with obstacles that come our way and most important, staying together. I'm proud to be a Knight. I always was and always will be. Thank you all and God bless each and every one of you.

Whites need a place to go where they can discuss their thoughts on discrimination against them without the tremendous force of anti-white thought impeding them. They need to appreciate their culture and have knowledge of their race to keep them proud of their background, not ashamed or guilt-ridden. Unfortunately, if I were to try to start a white club at this high school, I would be called horrible names. There would be protests and marches if word got out. I would perhaps be sent for a mental evaluation by some shrink who thinks he knows me better than myself. I could be suspended or the victim of some other disciplinary action. I would also most likely be the victim of a beating

And this is not at this school alone. In any school where a white pride or white student union club were to try to form – we would have the same result. But why? There exist numerous clubs for many ethnicities. At this school, there are around 30. To name a few, there are (Puerto Rico), Atzlan (Mexico), the Black student union, Cambodian, Chinese, Columbian, Indian, Middle Eastern, and many others. So why are whites not allowed to be proud or encouraged to honor their heritage? And more directly, it is White Christians who are the targets. Is it fair? How does this blatant discrimination fit in so quickly in our basic accepted "system"?

There are many more anti-white influences in the world, but the purpose of my writing this is to inform and hopefully open up some minds to the blatant discrimination of the unnoticed race around us- not to write on and on until your head spins and I try to sound smart. Take my thoughts from where I leave off, and look yourself for accepted discrimination, you will find it everywhere. Whites need to make themselves known and make their views known, or the consequences could be terrible. I know, as well as everyone else, that life is not fair, but the purpose of our system is to minimize that unfairness, not to expand it. Is it really doing its job?

Thank you to everyone who is working toward our future!

The Bud Lite Effect

Major League Baseball (MLB), the U.S. Navy, and others are appearing to back down from their pushy LGBTQ+ advertising. After the fallout from BudLites transgender foray, it was reported that Target lost nearly $9 billion in a span of a week after marketing LGBT-themed clothing to children. It now appears that the MLB and U.S. Navy no longer have the rainbow flag logo on their social media accounts. The official Facebook page for the MLB updated its profile to the league's logo against a rainbow flag in June, writing, "celebrating community, pride, and love of baseball." After just a day, they dropped it and replaced it with a logo picturing baseball star Lou Gehrig. Others have noted that companies such as Verizon, American Airlines, Amazon, and Walmart do not have rainbow flags in their Twitter profile pictures, calling it, "the bud lite effect."

This is the power of our voices folks. I feel a shift happening in America. This whole LGBTQP+ agenda, I think people thought it was just a fad. Which it was, until people that tolerated it or said, 'Well, as long as they let me alone, I'm ok with it,' are now watching the monster grow. Now those same folks realize that in a few short years, things went from "Gay" to men and small boys dressing as women, women removing their breasts, to men on the covers of women's magazines, men competing in women's sports, and the grooming of America's children for the future legalization of pedophilia. You do not have to use vigilante violence to make a change. Raise those voices!

An interesting study is 'Racial Self-Interest' is Not Racism: Ethno-demographic interests and the immigration debate by Eric Kaufman, (of Jewish, Chinese, and Pureto Rican ancestry) is Professor of Politics at Birkbeck College, University of London. He is author of Changing Places: mapping the white British response to ethnic change (Demos 2014), Shall the Religious Inherit the Earth (Profile 2010), The Rise and Fall of Anglo-America (Harvard 2004).

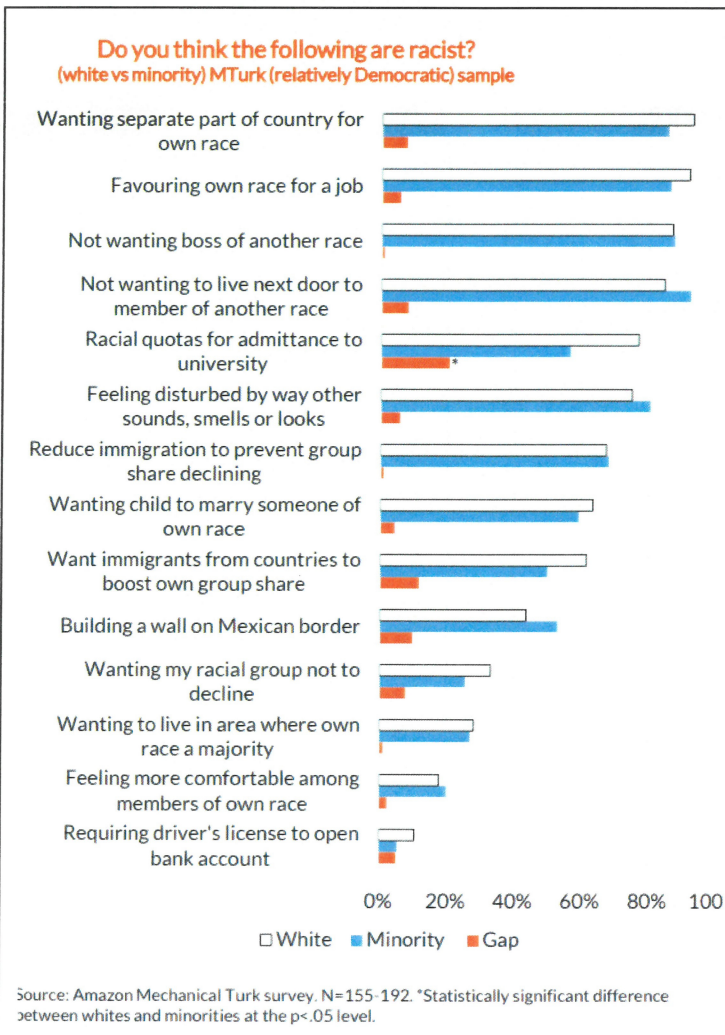

Figure 1 shows that most respondents, even among this relatively liberal sample, don't think it is racist to feel more comfortable among members of one's own 'race' (defined by US census categories) or to want to live in an area in which one's own race is in the majority. When Trump's proposed to build a wall on the border with Mexico opinion diverged, though a slim majority – even in this heavily Democratic sample - say this too is not racist. Importantly, there is no statistically significant gap between whites and minorities on whether the Wall is racist. Most also felt it is not racist to want your group not to decline, though more whites (33%) felt this to be racist than minorities (26%). What is striking, though, is that while most thought it permissible to want one's group not to decline, actively seeking to stop this by encouraging selective immigration or wanting to reduce immigration was considered racist by a clear majority of this relatively liberal sample. For instance, 62% of whites say it is racist to wish to encourage immigration from certain parts of the world to boost one's group share and 67% say the same about reducing immigration to maintain group share. The numbers are 50% and 68% for minorities, but this was not a statistically significant difference (though with a larger dataset a significant difference could emerge)

Israel Almost Became a Soviet State

By Dr. Ed Fields,

Elliott Roosevelt, son of Pres. Franklin Roosevelt, wrote in his book, As He Saw it, that when his father met with our ally, King Saud of Saudi Arabia in 1944, Roosevelt promised that he would not support a Jewish state in Palestine. However, this policy changed under President Truman who sought Jewish votes in the major cities.

Truman, backed by the World Zionist Congress, lobbied U.N. members to vote in favor of establishing a Jewish state in Palestine. On Nov. 26, 1947 the motion was defeated by a vote of 32 to 25. The pressure was intense to have the opponents change their vote. With Soviet support the vote switched on Nov. 29, 1947 to 33 in favor and 24 opposed.

Stalin and Truman were then in a race to be the first to officially recognize the new Jewish State. Truman beat Stalin by just hours. The U.S. Communist Party celebrated and in New York City some two-thirds of their members were Jews. The New York Times of March 12, 1948 carried the headline:

"10,000 Communists and Left-Wing Labor Leaders Demonstrate For Israel" - "Youthful and disciplined Communists raised their battle cry of 'solidarity forever,' as they marched. The parade and rally were held under the auspices of the 'United Committee to Save the Jewish State and the U.N.' Formed recently after the internationally minded Communists decided to take over an intensely nationalistic cause, the partition of Palestine (into a Jewish state). The grand marshal of the parade was Ben Gold, president of the communist-led International Fur and Leather Workers Union."

David Ben-Gurion, from Plousk, Russia, became Israel's first president in 1948. He headed the Marxist Mapam Party, (also known as The United Labor Party). Most of the Jews moving to Israel from Eastern Europe were Marxists. They had launched a terrorist underground war against the British and the Arabs.

The New York Herald-Tribune of Aug. 5, 1948 carried the headline, "Israel Leaning Toward Russia, Its Armorer." Stalin had ordered the Skoda Arms Works in Czechoslovakia to ship modern weapons to the new Jewish State. The article, written by correspondent Kenneth Bilby in Tel Aviv, Israel continued:

"Russian prestige has soared enormously among all political factions. Certain Czech arms shipments which reached Israel at a critical juncture of the war, played a vital role in blunting the invasion of five Arab armies. The Jews, who are certainly realists, know that without Russia's nod, these weapons would never have been available."

Israel Maxism

Midstream, a Jewish magazine, of Oct. 1996, carried a highly significant article by Eli Tzur on pro-Communist leanings at Israel's founding. He writes that Marxism first began in Jewish communes in Palestine as early as 1881. Tzur wrote:

"The Soviet Union was an international counterpart of Zionist construction and created a feeling of affinity. One can find earlier signs of admiration for the Soviets in Ben-Gurion's eulogy for Lenin, written in 1923, where he shows Lenin the highest regard by comparing Lenin to himself. Hoping to destroy the British Empire, the Soviets believed the Jews in Palestine were a catalyst in this process and helped their effort for the establishment of the State of Israel."

"We Have Two Motherlands"

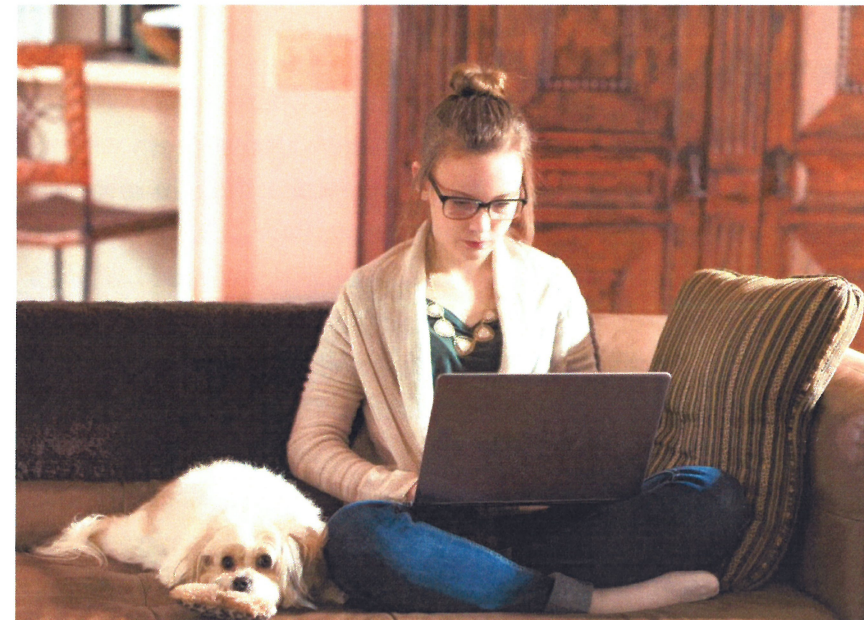

Tzur writes that pro-Communist Jews in Israel believed that they had two "motherlands." One was Israel and the other was the Soviet Union as, "the world headquarters of the Socialist Revolution." Tzur continues:

"A few years ago, a cave used by Jewish soldiers was discovered with the slogan, 'Palmach-Red Army' written on a wall. The young members of Palmach were indoctrinated to see themselves as part of a fighting camp to which the Vietnamese and the Chinese Communists belonged. When a party of all the Zionist left, Mapam was established in 1948, it defined itself, 'as an integral part of the revolutionary camp led by the Soviet Union.'"

"In this coming war, the International Left must accept commands from one center, which is in Moscow' The scenario envisaged was of the Soviet army advancing from the north and reaching Israel's northern border. Many hoped to greet it there and we have documented cases of young people who joined the northern Kibbutzim in order to be on the spot when the Red Army arrived. Some Mapam leaders feared that with the advance of the Red Army, the Western powers would try to utilize the Haifa harbor as a logistical base. One of them declared in the Knesset that in this case, the workers would paralyze the port facilities. Of course, the war never came."

In the early days of the birth of the Jewish State, Haifa was referred to as "Red Haifa." On holidays young Jews would march through the streets flying the Red Banner with clenched fists.

This is a highly revealing article. In other words, had war broken out between the Russia and America, the Israeli Marxists were prepared to join the Soviet Union against us! Tzur says that Ben-Gurion later decided that with the bulk of world Jewry now residing in the U.S., this would be their main source of financial support. Thus Israel took a "neutral" stand during the cold war while using the holocaust story to extort billions out of Germany and America. A TEEN'S VIEWPOINT

Racism is not specifically meted out to non-whites only. In our Country, oppression of white people and white pride is everywhere! The oppression of the white race is more widespread than for any other race. However, people do not and cannot properly question the moral fiber of the Country because they will immediately be called a racist. Take affirmative action for instance. What exactly is affirmative action? It sounds good; it makes everyone "equal" right? Wrong. I will tell you what affirmative action does. Affirmative action suppresses everyone, not just one race. It does much more bad than good. It promotes anger and more discrimination, which is the very thing it is supposed to prevent. Think about it. Have you ever heard the saying "two wrongs do not make a right"? Well it is true.

against in the past. Imagine this, it is the Olympics, and a white American loses to a Mexican in soccer. However, the white American wins, because extra points are given to make them "equal" for the justification that Mexicans are, on average, better at soccer. People would be furious! "Racism" would be cried out on all corners of the world! So then why is it "fair" and "equal" for any race that is not white to get extra consideration toward their goal, whether it be school, promotion, career, or anything else? In all honesty, affirmative action should be insulting to non-white races, because it is suggesting that to reach their goal, they need help. It says they can't do it on their own so they need extras to get through life. Is this true? Maybe it is, who can say? Nevertheless, if it is, we cannot allow ourselves to boost Affirmative action cannot be justified because other races were discriminated against in the past. Imagine this, it is the Olympics, and a white American loses to a Mexican in soccer. However, the white American wins, because extra points are given to make them "equal" for the justification that Mexicans are, on average, better at soccer. People would be furious! "Racism" would be cried out on all corners of the world! In all honesty, affirmative action should be insulting to non-white races, because it is suggesting that to reach their goal, they need help. It says they can't do it on their own so they need extras to get through life. Is this true? Maybe it is, who can say? Nevertheless, if it is, we cannot allow ourselves to boost others though life, it decreases the standards, and in the future is going to severely hurt America as a whole. What we should do is allow all races the same opportunities. That is true equality. People should be judged or based on their qualifications. Speaking of stereotypes, white people are racist, can't dance, are boring, egotistical, and undesirable. And now white women my mother's age are constantly referred to as a "Karen" and everyone just laughs about it.

These are a few of the many stereotypes that belong to the white race, No, I am not saying that no other race has stereotypes, but what I have noticed is that these stereotypes of the white race are never questioned. Whites are considered "weird" if they are offended by these common stereotypes, while the stereotypes of all other races are broadly disputed.

Another way whites are suppressed in this Country is the limitation of pride.

Sybil Ludington was a typical 16 year old girl in 1777.

She was often responsible for taking care of her younger siblings. She was putting the younger children to bed on the night of April 26, 1777, when word reached her house that the British were burning the town of Danbury, Connecticut, which was only 25 miles away. Her father was a colonel in the local militia. His men were scattered over a wide area around the Ludington house in Fredericksburg, New York (now Ludington). Sybil convinced her father to let her ride and summon the men. She rode on horseback over 40 miles on dark, unmarked roads to spread the alert. She rode alone with only a stick to prod her horse Star and to knock on the doors spreading the alert in time. The men whom she helped to gather arrived just in time to help drive the British, under the command of General William Tyron (who was also colonial governor of New York), back to their ships in Long Island Sound. One can only imagine what it was like being a 16 year old girl aiding the defense during wartime.

Historian Abigail Tucker, writing for the Smithsonian, argues that there is no evidence aside from Martha J. Lamb's History of the City of New York: Its Origin, Rise, and Progress (1880). However, according to Lamb she had consulted a wide variety of primary sources gathered from private individuals, historians, and libraries, including correspondence, "old sermons, records of trials, wills, genealogical manuscripts, documents and pamphlets." And she had communicated with the Ludington family. Paula Hunt, for the New England Quarterly, contends that Lamb insisted, her methodological approach was carefully constructed to root out inaccuracies: "No one authority has been accepted and followed in any instance without further evidence; and where accounts have conflicted, I have sought and secured every book and document relating to the subject, of which I could obtain any knowledge, even if no more than one of my paragraphs was involved in the issues." Unfortunately, in light of the modernist views of many historians, Lamb was part of a generation that honored a fictitious past. Hunt suggests, "Lamb's volume reflected conventional nineteenth-century historiography that conceived of the American Revolution as a momentous stage in the epic march toward progress that nationalism, capitalism, and the guidance and heroism of white men had facilitated."

Historian and newspaper editor Willis Fletcher Johnson, who also edited Theodore Roosevelt's works, wrote a biography of Sybil's father and included the story in it, noting he relied on documents from the family.

So is the legend true? Many believe it is, her family passed the story down, and no one at that time thought otherwise. What is known is that the adversaries of our people who desire to tarnish the Christian roots of our nation seek to rob of us our heroes and heroines, and one movie has even portrayed her as a mulatto woman.

Cult of Kalergi: The Planned Replacement of the European People

The mass third World invasion of Europe and north America over the past 50 years is not an accident or well-meaning policies gone wrong. It is the result of an ideology adopted by most political parties; liberal, leftist or conservative, and will result in the replacement of the Indigenous population of Europe and North America's European founder/settler people.

Constitutional liberty — 1636

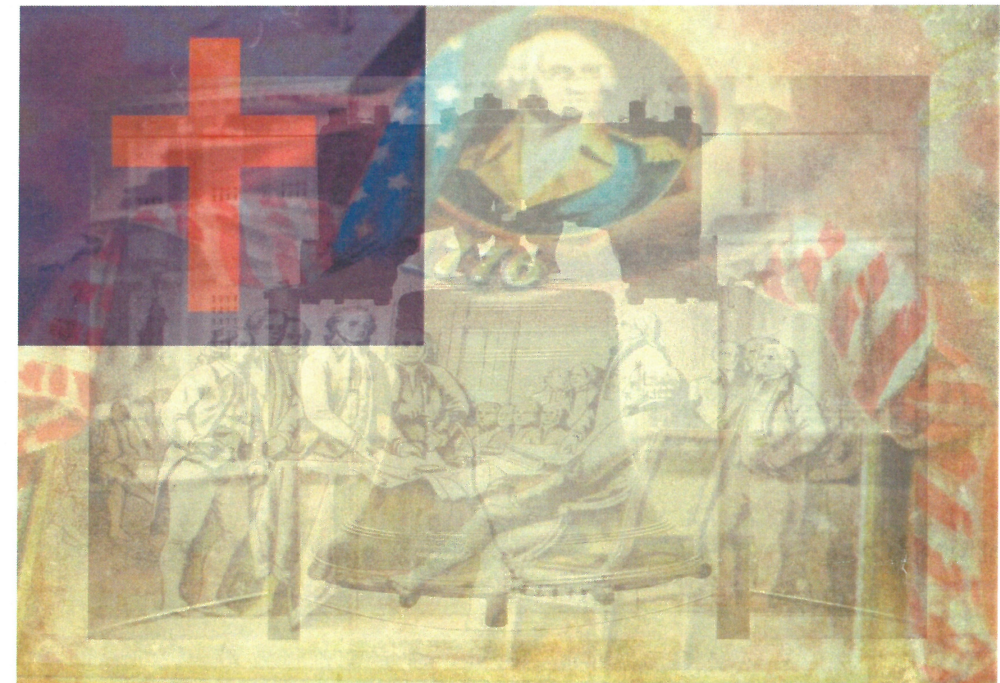

The Mayflower Compact was an inspired document, but not a specific constitution, defining the form of their government, its functions and basic laws. Thus in 1636, not working only from theory, no matter how sound, but drawing also on some fifteen years of experience in self-government in the new world, the Pilgrims held a kind of mini-constitutional convention, which framed the Laws of the Pilgrims, also known as The Laws of Plymouth, a basic constitution that was revised from time to time but never abandoned.

The preamble to the 1671 version, introduced "with grace and peace in our Lord Jesus Christ," began:

Two distinguished political science professors, one at Georgetown University and the other at the University of Dallas, authors of the book, The Basic Symbols of the American Political Tradition, say (and I think, wisely), if we want to understand our heritage and tradition, and what made America such a uniquely free, orderly and prosperous nation, we need to be familiar with the United States Constitution, which defines and limits our federal government.

Next, these professors maintain, we need to go back to the Declaration of Independence which defines some of the basic spiritual principles, such as the concept that we are endowed by our divine Creator with inalienable rights, and then go back still further in time, to the American political beginning, they say, lest we mistake for America's original precepts some later variations on these root concepts from which this once uniquely free, orderly and righteous nation began.

And to go back to the beginning, they tell us, means to go back to a ship called the Mayflower, to the people called the Pilgrims, and to the Mayflower Compact itself.

As Governor Bradford wrote in his book Of Plimoth Plantation,

"Thus, out of small beginnings greater things have been produced by His hand that made all things of nothing, and gives being to all things that are; and as one small candle may light a thousand, so the light here kindled hath shone unto many, yea in some sort to our whole nation; let the glorious name of Jehovah have all the praise."

As the Euro-American Cultural Exchange put it,

"The Pilgrims' courage, and ultimately, their success at overcoming their difficulties, encouraged thousands of others to follow them to New England, and their pattern of civilization became enshrined in the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States."
